

New book bulletin now available

The agAccess New Books Bulletin is now available and contains many new agricultural and horticulture titles. New books on the latest trends and current technology, are reviewed by experts in the agAccess New Books Bulletin. Topics covered include specialty crops and fruit production, irrigation, aquaculture, pest management, and sustainable agriculture plus much more. Just released titles on pests of the garden and small farm, permaculture, cover crops and ecology make the New Books Bulletin a valuable resource for farmers, students, and consultants. The New Books Bulletin is free upon request. agAccess's mail order catalog, their specialized booklists, research services, and a retail store located a few blocks from the University of California at Davis campus, have made agAccess the most complete agricultural booksource anywhere agAccess will gladly send free New Books Bulletins and is pleased to supply multiple copies. Telephone, Fax, and mail orders are always welcome. Purchase orders from government agencies, businesses and other institutions accepted.

For more information contact agAccess, P.O. Box 2008, Davis, CA 95617 or call (916) 756-7177, Fax (916) 756-7188.

Copyright © 1990 REAP Canada